

MONCHIERO

Vignola Rosato

Langhe Rosato DOC, Italy

GRAPEVARIETY

100% Nebbiolo

VINIFICATION

This wine is sourced from a vineyard in Castiglione Falletto planted with vines that average 60 years in age. The field is composed of compact clay with south-eastern exposure. The grapes are hand-harvested with great care, then the wine is produced in the same manner as a white wine, without skin contact. No aging; bottled and released in early spring.

ESTATE

The Monchiero family (pronounced "Mon-khee-eh-ro") owns 25 acres of vineyard in Piedmont spread throughout the communes of Barolo and Alba. For generations the family farmed and grew grapes on the Montanello estate, outside the small town of Castiglione Falletto. In the 1950s, the brothers Remo and Maggiorino Monchiero started producing wine under their own family name. The small winery located in Castiglione Falletto was established in the 13th century and purchased by the Monchiero brothers in 1982. Vittorio Monchiero, son of Maggiorino, was trained at the renowned oenological institute in Alba and remains committed to the region's traditional practices. In 2017 his eldest son, Luca, joined the family winery. His youngest son, Stefano, is studying viticulture and will soon do the same.
