

AITZALDE

Txakoli

(pronounced chock – o – LEE)

DO Getariako Txakolina, Spain

GRAPE VARIETY

95% Hondarrabi Zuri (white)
5% Hondarrabi Beltza (red)

TASTING NOTE

Aromatic, very dry and slightly effervescent with bright citrus fruit flavors, hints of minerality and brisk acidity.

FOOD PAIRING

Bracing acidity makes this an excellent food wine. Pair with shellfish, oysters or a rich fish like salmon or mackerel.

The name "Aitzalde" (pronounced AYTS – all – day) means 'place of stone' and is also the name of the steep vineyard site that slopes down to the sea, from which this wine is produced.

AITZALDE

Txakoli

(pronounced chock – o – LEE)

DO Getariako Txakolina, Spain

GRAPE VARIETY

95% Hondarrabi Zuri (white)
5% Hondarrabi Beltza (red)

TASTING NOTE

Aromatic, very dry and slightly effervescent with bright citrus fruit flavors, hints of minerality and brisk acidity.

FOOD PAIRING

Bracing acidity makes this an excellent food wine. Pair with shellfish, oysters or a rich fish like salmon or mackerel.

The name "Aitzalde" (pronounced AYTS – all – day) means 'place of stone' and is also the name of the steep vineyard site that slopes down to the sea, from which this wine is produced.

AITZALDE

Txakoli

(pronounced chock – o – LEE)

DO Getariako Txakolina, Spain

GRAPE VARIETY

95% Hondarrabi Zuri (white)
5% Hondarrabi Beltza (red)

TASTING NOTE

Aromatic, very dry and slightly effervescent with bright citrus fruit flavors, hints of minerality and brisk acidity.

FOOD PAIRING

Bracing acidity makes this an excellent food wine. Pair with shellfish, oysters or a rich fish like salmon or mackerel.

The name "Aitzalde" (pronounced AYTS – all – day) means 'place of stone' and is also the name of the steep vineyard site that slopes down to the sea, from which this wine is produced.

AITZALDE

Txakoli

(pronounced chock – o – LEE)

DO Getariako Txakolina, Spain

GRAPE VARIETY

95% Hondarrabi Zuri (white)
5% Hondarrabi Beltza (red)

TASTING NOTE

Aromatic, very dry and slightly effervescent with bright citrus fruit flavors, hints of minerality and brisk acidity.

FOOD PAIRING

Bracing acidity makes this an excellent food wine. Pair with shellfish, oysters or a rich fish like salmon or mackerel.

The name "Aitzalde" (pronounced AYTS – all – day) means 'place of stone' and is also the name of the steep vineyard site that slopes down to the sea, from which this wine is produced.

AITZALDE

Txakoli

(pronounced chock – o – LEE)

DO Getariako Txakolina, Spain

GRAPE VARIETY

95% Hondarrabi Zuri (white)
5% Hondarrabi Beltza (red)

TASTING NOTE

Aromatic, very dry and slightly effervescent with bright citrus fruit flavors, hints of minerality and brisk acidity.

FOOD PAIRING

Bracing acidity makes this an excellent food wine. Pair with shellfish, oysters or a rich fish like salmon or mackerel.

The name "Aitzalde" (pronounced AYTS – all – day) means 'place of stone' and is also the name of the steep vineyard site that slopes down to the sea, from which this wine is produced.

AITZALDE

Txakoli

(pronounced chock – o – LEE)

DO Getariako Txakolina, Spain

GRAPE VARIETY

95% Hondarrabi Zuri (white)
5% Hondarrabi Beltza (red)

TASTING NOTE

Aromatic, very dry and slightly effervescent with bright citrus fruit flavors, hints of minerality and brisk acidity.

FOOD PAIRING

Bracing acidity makes this an excellent food wine. Pair with shellfish, oysters or a rich fish like salmon or mackerel.

The name "Aitzalde" (pronounced AYTS – all – day) means 'place of stone' and is also the name of the steep vineyard site that slopes down to the sea, from which this wine is produced.